25X1A9a1. You may recall that at lunch the other day you, [REDACTED] and I were discussing the building dedication ceremonies and in particular the types of material which should be sealed in the cornerstones. I mentioned at that time that I thought we should include certain items of "intelligence" value such as sample national estimates. I have since taken up this subject with Mr. Amory who is decidedly of the opinion that important intelligence papers should be sealed in the box and [REDACTED]

2. Mr. Amory has asked me to put his views on record with you and to follow up as your plans progress for selecting the material to be included. Would you please let me or Larry know at your convenience how and by whom the selections are to be made and any other information about this that you might deem useful to us.
